'From the concrete-wrapped exterior to the pared-back take on chalet charm inside, this is a modern version of alpine style'

Sauna The architects' take on a sauna uses black waxed-fir timber instead of the traditional cedar, ensuring the focus is on the views outside. A stainless-steel pipe carries water to the bucket showerhead and, because this area is directly exposed to the exterior of the chalet, water-resistant and wind-permeable black curtains were added for privacy. Bedroom Gervasoni's 'Brick' bed by Paola Navone is upholstered with a Pierre Frey fabric, with another design from the French textile house used on the custom pillows and a Pendleton blanket adding extra cosiness. The rug is from Vandra Rugs. The articulated 'Lampe Gras' light from DCW Editions and custom-made concrete stool by Atelier Zürich introduce an industrial element into the scheme. See Stockists page for details
